"Jambayyanakeri" tank of Thimmalapuram village of Hospet Taluk Minor Irrigation source with an ayacut of 85-50 acres and an annual asse of Rs.170-5-0. The tank was last repaired in 1927-28 at a cost of Rs.150/ is situated in Reserved Forest and as the ryots have neglected customary there is profuse jungle growth on the bund and its rear slopes. The Tah Hospet has submitted an estimate for Rs.2050/- for the clearance of th growth and another estimate for Rs.1960/- for repairs to the sluices. J reported that before the jungle growth is cleared, the other items of wo cannot be executed. Though the clearance of jungle growth is an item c to be attended to by the ryots under Kudimaramath it has been neglected f time. The ayacutdars express their inability to meet the cost of the wo the amount involved is large. The District Forest Officer has permitte cutting of the trees and shrubs that obstruct the proper maintenance of As this is a long neglected Kudimaramath work and as it involves consid Labour and expense, I recommend that under B.S.O. 36 para 5(a) it may be up at Government cost waiving recovery of the amount from the Ayacutdar estimate for Rs.2050/- received from the Tahsildar is enclosed for perus return.

Jambayyanakeri tank of Thimmalapuram Village of Hospet Taluq was last repaired in 1927-28 at a cost of Rs.159/- water is now escaping through the leakages in two sluices and the bund. The proposed repairs to the tank cannot be postponed, as they are absolutely necessary for maintaining the efficiency of the tank. The clearance of jungle growth cannot be postponed either, as, without its clearance, it is impossible to execute the proposed repairs.

2. The ayacutdars under the tank have expressed their inability to contribute anything towards the cost of jungle clearance. They represent that the forest authorities have allowed the jungle to grow and whenever the ryots attempted to clear the jungle, they have been prevented by the Forest Department. The Forest authorities have apprehended that the ryots would interfere with the sandal wood trees which are on the slopes of the tank bund.

3. Though it is the normal duty of the ayacutdars to clear the jungle growth as an item of "Kudimaramath" neither the ryots are willing to take up the work nor the Forest Department willing to attend the ryots to meddle with the jungle growth which contain, sandalwood trees. If the Government however, order that the ryots should contribute one fourth the cost of the clearance steps will be taken to collect the amount from the ryots under provisions of the "Kudimaramath" Act.

4. I consider that it is necessary to take up the works early so that the efficiency of the tank may be maintained and also in the interest of grow More Food Campaign as a stitch in time saves nine. A translation of the statement given by the ryots is enclosed.

Statement of ayacutdars of Jambayyanakeri - 117 Thimmalapuram Village:-

We have been asked to contribute one fourth the cost of the clearance of jungle growth which is on the Jambayyanakeri tank. We have been informed also that the jungle clearance is an item of Kudimaramath which has to be attended to by the ayacutdars. The tank is in a Reserve Forest. Due to restrictions imposed by the Forest authorities we have not attempted to clear the jungle growth. We believe that it is not an item of Kudimaramath work. The jungle has grown profusely due to restrictions imposed on the ryots by the Forest Department. It is not possible for us to contribute anything towards cost of the clearance of jungle growth either in cash or in the shape of labour

2) The Board agrees with the Collector's views and recommends that 1/4 th of the cost may be recovered from

ASSISTANT SECRETARY TO GOVERNMENT 33447 MAY 1950 FINANCE DEPARTMENT

The proposal is to clear the jungle growth in the bund of the Jambagyanakeri tank of immalapuram village in Hosket taluk, Kolar Dt. at an estimated cost of Rs. 2,050. It is reported that the jungle growth has to be cleared before repairs to the tank at an estimated cost of Rs 1,960 could be taken up. The clearance of jungle growth is an item of work to be attended to by the ryots under Kudimaramath, it has been neglected from a long time. The ayacutdars have expressed their inability to meet the cost of the work, as the amount is large. The Collr. has recommended that the work may be executed at Govt. cost and Revenue supports the proposal.

2/ In G.O. No. 2882, P.W., dated 2.8.49, the Govt. authorised the CE (I) to take up at Govt. cost such of the Kudimaramath works which are considered necessary for the proper functioning of irrigation sources for the duration of the period of intensive cultivation, namely upto the end of 1951-52. He was, however, asked to exercise his discretion carefully without dispensing with the Kudimaramath liability of the ryots altogether. The above orders were issued in the interests of the Food Production drive. In another file this Deptt. have remarked that the execution of Kudimaramath works at Govt. cost as provided for in the above G.O. should be considered only in exceptionally urgent cases in order that the Govt's commitment may not be unduly heavy. In the present case, the necessity and urgency for the proposed repairs to the tank, for which the clearance of the jungle growth is stated to be a necessary pre-requisite, this aspect is not fully explained. In view of the present financial stringency, it would be desirable if the expenditure on the clearance of the jungle growth, as well as on the proposed repairs to the tank is avoided unless it is considered inevitable in the interests of maintaining the efficiency of the tank and as a first measure Collector may, therefore, advise that, before proceeding further with the proposal, the Bd. of Rev may be asked to obtain a report from the Collr. as to whether the two items of work are absolutely necessary in the interests of Food Production and whether they cannot be postponement for some time?

If the works are considered essential, ~~at least a portion of the cost may be recovered from~~ the Ayacutdars may be required to contribute in cash or in the shape of labour at least one-fourth of the cost (Rs. 2,050) of jungle clearance. If they agree to this, the work may be sanctioned.

2. The Collector reports that the repairs proposed to the bank cannot be postponed as they are absolutely necessary for maintaining the efficiency of the tank. He considers that the clearance of jungle growth cannot be postponed, either, as without its clearance it is impossible to execute the proposed repairs, for the reasons stated at pp 4 ante. The ayacut-dars however, are not willing to contribute anything towards the cost of jungle clearance. The Collector considers it necessary to take up the works early, in the interests of F.M.F. and states that steps will be taken to collect one fourth of the cost of jungle clearance from the ryots under the provisions of the Kudimaramat Act, if so ordered by Govt. The Board of Revenue agrees with the Collector's views and recommends that 1/4th of the cost may be recovered from the ryots.

3. Orders whether, in the circumstances now reported, the original estimate for Rs 2050/- for the jungle clearance work may be sanctioned at Govt cost and the Board asked to make steps to recover 1/4 of the cost from the ayacut-dars under the provisions of the Kudimaramat Act before starting the execution of the bank.

The Collr. of Bellary has reported that the proposed repairs to the tank, estimated to cost Rs 1,960, (as they are absolutely necessary for maintaining the efficiency of the tank) cannot be postponed and that the clearance of jungle growth, estimated to cost Rs 2,050, cannot be postponed either, as, without the latter work, it is impossible to carry out the repairs. He has also stated that one-fourth of the cost of the jungle clearance work could be recovered from the ryots concerned under the provisions of the Kudimaramath Act if so ordered by the Govt. The Bd. has agreed with the Collr. and has recommended recovery of one-fourth of the cost of this work from the ryots. Rev. proposes to approve the Bd's proposal. Finance may agree.
